Learning for Sustainability Scotland
Ag Ionnsachadh airson Seasmhachd Alba

2026 Annual General Meeting and online Gathering

Thursday 14 January 2027
15:00 – 17:15
online

Draft Programme

Enabling Journeys of Active Hope
15:00	Welcome, introductions and overview
15:15	Overview of Learning for Sustainability Scotland in 2026
15:40	Steering Group election results
15:45	Members' Storyshare: 'Enabling Journeys of Active Hope'
16:15	Break
16:20	Group discussions and reflections
16:40	Keynote speaker, plus Q&A session
17:05	Summary and looking ahead
17:15	Close and farewell

The 2026 Members' Storyshare

- As we look back over 2026 and ahead to 2027 and beyond, our AGM and online Gathering offers an opportunity for reflection and creating a sense of renewal. Join us for an opportunity to explore, share, and celebrate our collective learning and 'new ingredients' to help us to discover the strengths in ourselves and in others.

- We would like to invite our members to explore the different steps we can take on our journey for active hope. In doing so, we aim to inspire conversation, reflection, solidary and action so that we can collectively continue to address and reimagine our interconnected challenges and possibilities for just and sustainable futures.

- Inspired by the 'Circles of Active Hope' model, developed by Joanna Macy and Chris Johnstone, we invite our members to share their stories of how their Learning for Sustainability work is enabling journeys towards active hope. Using the elements in this model: coming from gratitude, feeling, connecting, visioning, and planning – as a starting point, we warmly welcome submissions from members whose activity is contributing to – or inspired by - one or more of these concepts.

- Please note that stories can relate to any aspect of Learning for Sustainability.

Please indicate in the registration form if you would like to share a story and tell us more about it by 17:00 on Wednesday 09 December. You will have five minutes to share your story and visual/audio accompaniments are very welcome.