

Transforming our World – education and learning that responds to the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals

Learning for Sustainability Scotland’s AGM

When: 1.00 pm to 4.30pm on Thursday 19 January 2017

Where: Godfrey Thomson Hall, Thomsons Land, Moray House School of Education, St John Street, University of Edinburgh, EH8 8AQ

This year’s AGM looks at how you and your organisation can contribute to achieving the UN Sustainable Development Goals in Scotland and beyond. Scotland has signed up to take action on the UN’s 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) across all of its activities. SDG 4 is specifically about education through all aspects of life, and internationally Learning for Sustainability is considered at the heart of each of the 17 Goals.

Programme

13:00 Arrival, coffee/tea & biscuits & registration

13:30 Learning for Sustainability Scotland - an Update

- Participatory welcome
- Update on National and Global context for LfS
- Update from LfS Scotland: Annual Report including task group updates
- Voting for new LfS Scotland Steering Group members

Round table discussions on LfS Scotland in the coming year, ways you can be involved and develop your own work and interests

14:45 ‘Education and the UN Sustainable Development Goals

Aaron Benavot, Director, UNESCO Global Education Monitoring report

15:00 Interactive workshop – Responding to the SDGs in Scotland through learning:

In Schools: Josephine McLaughlin, IDEAS; With Young People and Communities: Emily Beever, Youthlink Scotland; In Tertiary Education, Matthew Lawson, University of Edinburgh; With Government: Ruchir Shah, SCVO Open Government Pioneers initiative

Brief presentations followed by small group discussions

16:15 Key points and looking ahead

16:30 A chance to network with colleagues & friends old and new – should you wish